American & Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the act of 1857.)
78 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to SECURE Patents in the United States; also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Reexamines made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the best proof of adequate ability, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

Those, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most reliable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and the one pending. Such unmistakable proof of great skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most fair treatment bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on three rejected applications SIX FEET APART, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

UNION NOMINATION.

FOR GOVERNOR,

SAMUEL CONY.

UNION County Convention

THE UNDERSIGNED, appointed a County Committee by the Republican Convention of last year, deeming the present crisis in our National existence demands the united efforts of every citizen in the support of the Government, and that all former party associations should cease until the rebellion and civil war are brought to a close, would invite the citizens of the County of Penobscot who are unconditionally loyal to the Government of the United States, in the support of all the measures for the suppression of the rebellion, and who are revolved to spare no endeavor to maintain our National boundary, to send Delegates to a Convention to be held in the CITY OF BANGOR, on Thursday, the 20th day of August, 1863,

At 10 o'clock A. M.,

For the purpose of nominating Candidates for a County Treasurer, one County Commissioner, three Senators to the State Legislature, and for any other business which may properly come before the Convention.

Each City, Town, and Plantation is entitled to send one Delegate, one additional Delegate for each 150 inhabitants in Towns not having over 1500 population, agreeable to the census of 1860, Towns over 1500, and not over 3000, one for each 250; any Town over 3000 inhabitants, one for every 400 of such population, and one additional for each fraction of 100.

GEORGE STETSON,
W. H. FERGUSON,
O. HOWES,
B. F. HORTON,
I. W. PORTER.

Bangor, July 20, 1863.

JUDGE CONY'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE, which we published in our paper of yesterday, is an eloquent and patriotic document, and one of the ablest and most comprehensive papers of the kind we have ever read. Open, unreserved and manly in its declaration of support to the Government—unconditional in its loyalty as it is bold in its denunciation of traitors North or South—drawing with strong yet graceful pen a truthful picture of the rebellion (as instituted by Southern rebels, with the aid of the Buchanan administration) full of the inevitable consequences to our country of a failure to suppress that rebellion—appealing in terms of exalted patriotism to every man who truly loves that country, to forget all former party differences and all private or selfish motives, and unite heart and hand to save the country from impending ruin—and, depicting in eloquent and fervent language the glorious future in store for our Republic when this most a rocious conspiracy against its life shall have been broken up and its authors and abettors sunk in everlasting infamy.

Every one who reads that letter must be convinced that in Judge Cony the Union men of the State have a most patriotic, earnest, able, and energetic leader to carry forward their banner to overwhelming victory in the approaching contest with the disloyal democracy of Maine. What his ideas of loyalty are—and also his opinion of the men who are so infamously obstructing and opposing the Government in this time of national peril—may be seen from the following pregnant passage:

A genuine loyalty will not satisfy itself with a general bald assertion of love of country and devotion to the Union, but by words and deeds of encouragement will help on our cause, it will not cavil at every measure of the administration, and will pardon much to the immense difficulties that beset it; it will not deprecate or depreciate the success of the Union arms, it will not disparage the character of our soldiers as compared with the rebels; it will not fail to rejoice at our victories by whatever General they may be won, nor to be cast down by disasters whenever they befall us; it will not decry the national credit, nor cast a suspicion on the national integrity; nor will it endeavor to prevent the operation of laws designed to give efficiency to the army by filling its ranks, either by mob violence or seditious incitement thereto. Differences of opinion there may be on some matters, but the discussion of such differences may well be postponed till we have achieved the objects for which the War on our part is waged—to wit: the undisputed supremacy of the United States within its ancient and rightful limits.

The Union men of the State have just reason to be proud of a candidate who takes such high and noble ground in his country's cause; and the people will see to it that that cause is vindicated by his triumphant election.

One of the principal objects of Sherman's pursuit of Johnston in Mississippi is said to be to collect all the rolling stock and locomotives which Johnston has in Mississippi. All the cars, engines, &c., which were taken from Nashville, Columbus, Memphis, and New Orleans, are now lying west of the Tombigbee river, and many of them north of Jackson and Canton. If Sherman cuts the roads leading east at Jackson and Meridian, then the whole lot must fall into our hands or be destroyed. A correspondent of the World, writing on the 7th inst., says this is a masterly move, and is one this, no doubt, successful.

THE FEELING IN PHILADELPHIA. At the close of the drafting in the 15th Ward, in Philadelphia, on Saturday, after about 1200 names had been drawn, a citizen of distinction, a life-long democrat, proposed three cheers for the Union. The whole multitude took the cue and gave them with a will. Three more were given for the Government, if possible with still greater unction. The scene closed with three cheers, loud and long, for the draft. Goes for Philadelphia.

Correspondence of Whig & Courier.

AUGUSTA, July 21, 1863.

It is a matter of considerable uncertainty when the nine months regiments from Maine, which have been in service before Port Hudson, may be expected home. A letter from Colonel Johnston of the 21st regiment, dated the 25th ult., expresses the opinion that they may not arrive in Maine until about the first of August. Colonel Johnston speaks in terms of the highest praise of the gallant conduct of all our Maine regiments in the Department of the Gulf, and says no troops are considered equal to Maine soldiers. The citizens of Augusta intend to give the 21st, 24th and 28th regiments a reception which will show that their welcome and dangerous services in the swamps of the Mississippi are appreciated. These regiments, with those which went from Bangor, have been in a position to do noble service during their short term of enlistment, which their country and State should remember.

We in New England, so far removed from the scene of action, can hardly imagine the real importance of the recent victories at Vicksburg, Port Hudson, and in Mississippi. The following extract from a private letter written to a gentleman in this city by Captain A. W. Norcross, Military Storekeeper at New Orleans, will give you some idea of the feeling at New Orleans over our successes:

Party is to be a grand illumination this evening in honor of the Union and our victorious cause. Secesh go about with long faces. In fact they virtually consider the rebellion over. Millions of dollars on their part would have been freely offered, that Vicksburg and Port Hudson could not be taken! The Army and Navy are nearly wild with delight, and do you wonder?

Capt Norcross is well known to your citizens as a Bangor boy of enterprise and merit. He holds a responsible appointment as Military Storekeeper of Quartermaster's Department, in the regular service, and is now stationed at New Orleans, where he has entire charge of the Depot of Army Clothing and Equipage, there established—beside superintending the manufacturing of contraband clothing, which is an immense business of itself, giving employment, at good wages to large numbers of the poor and needy Union women of New Orleans. Capt N. writes that New Orleans is now a much more pleasant and healthy place for residence than Washington—for New England enterprise has not only rescued it from the grasp of treason, but saved it from pestilence and disease through the admirable sanitary regulations introduced in governing the city. People there begin to perceive by contrast, the good effects of the beneficent rule of this government, to which the leaders of treason had before blinded them, and to-day there is more real Union feeling in New Orleans than in Washington.

The draft here is still the exciting topic of conversation. Capt Davis, notwithstanding his untimely slaughter in the newspapers, is performing the duties of Provost Marshal remarkably well for a dead man.

Very truly, JOHN SHIRLEY.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

TERMS OF DAILY.

$5.00 per year; $3.00 for six months, $1.50 for three months; 50 cents per month for less than three months.

☞ Invariably in Advance.

The first of January, 1863, all Dailies will be discontinued unless the price of subscription is paid in advance.

For Evening Telegraphic Despatches, &c., see First Page.

☞ Our readers will remember the Dramatic Entertainment this evening at Norombega, by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Davenport and other favorite actors from the Boston theatres. The troupe embraces some of the best talent in the country.

☞ The loyal people of Belfast have contributed the generous sum of thirteen hundred dollars for the sick and wounded soldiers. This noble donation reflects high honor upon that patriotic city. One half is sent to the Sanitary Commission and one half to the Christian Commission.

THE COPPERHEAD RESISTANCE IN FRANKLIN COUNTY. A deputation to the Portland Courier from Augusta, dated 22d, says a force fully armed and equipped will be sent from Camp Keyes, Augusta, to-day, to aid the Provost Marshal in enforcing the draft in Franklin County.

PERSONAL. Lieutenant Frank Patterson of the 2d Iowa Infantry (formerly of this city) is in town, and will remain for a day or two.

☞ Mr. Charles Hamlet, formerly of the 1st Maine Heavy Artillery, arrived at home on Saturday, on a short furlough. So says the Bangor Whig.—Portland Courier.

We didn't say any such thing. Major Hamlin arrived here last week.

☞ The cannonading heard off Portland harbor, is now known to have been from trial guns fired at Fort Popham at the mouth of the Kennebec river.

ACCIDENT IN SEARSPORT. On Friday last, a young daughter of Dr P. Simonton, and one of Capt. John C. Carver, fell through the hatchway into the hold of a ship some fourteen feet, severely breaking the leg of the former, and causing such a shock to the latter as to render her insensible for many hours.—Belfast Age.

TO CORRESPONDENTS AND OTHERS. We have on hand several letters and other communications which have, and we fear must be, crowded out by the current news. We are unable to publish one half of the matter sent us in this way, and still preserve the necessary variety in our paper. Friends whose articles do not appear must accept this for an apology. As an exchange says—we cannot crowd two bushels of meat into a three-peck bag.

☞ It having been suspected last week that Capt. Rich, the Portland secessionist confined in Fort Preble, had formed plans of escape, he was placed in close confinement, and on being searched a plan of the fortifications was found on his person.

☞ After several weeks of rainy and foggy weather, it cleared away yesterday morning, with a bright sun and a heading north-west wind, and the hay-makers now go ahead at last with confidence. The delay, however, has been no loss—for the grass has gained largely during the wet term.

☞ The draft in Bath has cut pretty closely into the "upper crust," but we hardly know in which court to place the last name on the list—Johnson Hall. Perhaps he will undertake to lead Beauregard's horse to water.—Press.

☞ The citizens of Vicksburg claim to have learned how to dodge shells, and say that those fired from the mortars had become favorites with the people. Shots from Parrott guns were not so popular.

☞ The rioters at Troy delivered from the jail eighty-eight prisoners, four of whom were under indictment for murder.

☞ Indiana raised 61,000 men in forty-eight hours after Morgan entered the State.

☞ Gen. Sickles has passed the critical point in his case, and is now rapidly recovering.

☞ A burglar who broke into a house at Euclid Creek, Ohio, during the absence of the family, and pocketed spoons and other "portable property," in getting out of the window to leave, stepped on an insecure cover of a cistern, broke through and was drowned.

Judge McCunn of New York, who has recently declared the Enrollment Act unconstitutional, is the same person who, while Colonel of a volunteer regiment, was arrested by General McClellan and sent to New York, with the injunction not to return to the National Capitol on peril of his life.

Various Items.

Brig Gen Weed, who was killed at Gettysburg, while commanding Gen Sykes' old division, lived some hours after receiving his mortal wound. "I lay down my life willingly," he observed to several standing about him; "I only hope its loss will be the dawn of successive victories to our arms and a speedy end to this terrible war."

The N Y Herald puts down the area of rebellion in its largest proportions at 838,206 square miles. In 1862 the military lines of Jeff Davis had been reduced so as to include only about 750,000 square miles. It now estimates that the rebel lines includes only about 288,000 square miles, or only about one fourth (the territorial area represented in the congress of the so-called "Confederate States." A very large reduction certainly.

The Herald also estimates the total losses of Lee in killed, wounded and prisoners during his recent campaign at 46,500 men, and the total rebel losses during the past three weeks at Vicksburg, Port Hudson and other places at 100,000 men.

The New Hampshire Legislature, which adjourned last Friday, passed an act "authorizing cities and towns to raise $300 for each drafted man, if they choose."

The human body, in an advanced a stage of decomposition as to be entirely unrecognizable, can now be restored, by chemical means, as to present an almost completely natural appearance. This process was lately practised with success in London, in the case of a body found in the Thames, which was suspected to be that of an escaped murderer who had committed suicide. After the body had been subjected to the new process the witnesses were able to swear that he was not the supposed murderer.

At a public meeting in Westchester county, N. Y., Mr. Haskin, Democrat, said that some one had questioned his right to have a colored man at his employ. He had such a person, and he was the man who first planted the American flag on Roanoke Island. Coming here, homeless and friendless, he had taken him until since time as he saw fit to let him go. (Applause.) It was nobody's business who he employed. He would hire an Irishman, a German, or even a negro if it suited his table, and no one should interfere with him in so doing. This war upon the negroes was disgraceful, brutal and undivilized, and he envied neither the head or the heart of that man who approved it.

Gen. Dix has arrived in New York, and assumed command. He had a long and satisfactory interview with Governor Seymour. It is understood that no trouble between the State and federal authorities is imminent.—Argus.

A HEROIC WOMAN. The Chambersburg (Pa) Valley Spirit says that while that ancient borough was under rebel rule, a rebel soldier applied to a lady for an axe to cut down the liberty pole which had stood in the public square ever since the great uprising of the people upon the fall of Fort Sumter. She refused to give the axe. He drew his pistol from his belt, and threatened to shoot her unless she complied with his demand. She replied with perfect coolness: "You can put twenty bullets through my heart, but you cannot force me to give you an axe to cut down that pole."

MARSTON'S PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS RE-OPENED!

Having Repaired and Enlarged my Rooms to double their former size, and put in a new Pyramid Ground Glass Light, the first and only one in the State of Maine, I feel confident I have by far the largest and most convenient Room in the state, having two separate lights, and two Cameras at the same time, and not oblige customers to wait so long as they have to where there but one Light and one Apparatus. I cannot boast of having spent much of my time in all the principal Photograph Rooms between Bangor and the Potomac—but I have passed through Boston, Providence, New York, and some other towns with long names, and have seen Willard's Hotel in Washington, and now think I am qualified to make good Pictures. During my absence I have bought a good many things

Ambrotype and Photograph Goods,

Consisting of all kinds of French and American Frames, Card Racks, Card Porter, Photograph Albums, all sizes and qualities, and every style and pattern of Cases that I could find in the market, and which I expect to sell at fair prices. And here I would say, my goods were bought as low as I could buy for cash, and I will sell as low as the same quality goods can be had in town. I bought no second hand goods at 50 per cent less than cost, to sell my customers, so that purchasers of me will get good goods and pay small profits. CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES. To those who favor me with their patronage I would say, I give my personal attention to my business, and will do my best to please them.

A Barbadoes paper of June 23d reports the arrival there of a boat containing a Lieutenant and gunner belonging to the pirate Florida, being the prize crew of a vessel she had taken, and which was intended to run the blockade. As they were short of water near the island they set her on fire, but she stranded and her cargo had become a cause of strife among the islanders The military had been called out, and a collision with the mob is reported to have taken place The report looks like a canard.

THE MAINE NINTH There appears to be some difference in the statements relative to the part taken by the Maine Ninth (Col Emery) in the attack upon Fort Wagner, Charleston harbor One account says the storming party (of the 7th Connecticut) gallantly gained the parapet, but not being properly supported by the regiments detailed for that purpose, the Maine 9th and a Pennsylvania regiment had to fall back and lose all they had gained This looked badly for the Maine 9th But another account and we hope the correct one, says

Early on the morning of the 11 h, the 6th Connecticut and 9th Maine regiments made a furious charge upon the battery, got possession of it and hoisted the American flag At daylight Fort Sumter opened fire upon them, when a Pennsylvania regiment cowardly deserted them, refusing to stand by their comrades The other regiments held the battery until they were badly cut up and then abandoned it, when the rebels again took possession of it The 6th Connecticut and 9th Maine have shown themselves heroes in this campaign.

The 9th Maine had previously done gallant service in the assault and capture of other rebel batteries, one of which was re-named "Battery Emery" in compliment to its brave Colonel

The following is a list of casualties in the regiment

DRAFTING IN NEW YORK The New York papers concur in the belief that the enforcement of the conscription law will certainly take place in that city at a day not distant It seems that the precise quota of the city has never been ascertained, or if ascertained, not announced This important preliminary will be adjusted, more military force will be provided, and then will come the draft.

A letter from the 18th Maine says You may be glad to know that Gen Banks has written in reply to an application that we might be removed from the dull life of a garrison in the marshes of the lower Mississippi to a more active position in the field, that he understands the monotony of our duties, and regrets the inconveniences of the life to us. "But," he adds, "the position of Fort Jackson is so important, it is indispensable that it should be defended by the best men in the service." And consequently, he says, it is impossible for the present to change us.

FAST STEAMBOAT RUNNING. The Scientific American, in noticing the fact that the Hudson River steamer Mary Powell, Captain A. L. Anderson, made the run between New York and Poughkeepsie lately in three hours and forty-two minutes—her speed being at the rate of 75 miles in three hours and two minutes—cites the following "The steamer City of Buffalo, formerly running upon Lake Erie, has run 75 miles in three hours six minutes frequently. The distances from Toledo to Buffalo is said to be 300 miles by the course run, the time between these ports, of the boat above mentioned, was equal to the speed of 22 miles an hour for four consecutive hours.

The New York Riots.

The presence of the military keeps the New York rioters quiet. Troops are stationed on all exposed points, the Hudson and Harlem railroads are protected by soldiers, and cavalry patrol the up town wards The Evening Post has the following observations upon the present condition

THE TEMPER OF THE MOB

The operations of the rioters have been so effectually curbed by the military and police, as large a number have been shot or clubbed, and the prospect is so unpropitious for the success of future deeds of violence, that the fierce ty and extreme recklessness which were apparent on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week, are doubtless crushed The rioters dare not assemble they dare not interrupt the transactions of business, and there is good evidence that they will not even attempt to act in large bodies hereafter Therefore it is certain that the spirit of the mob is effectually cowed, and, with proper disposition of the force under the control of the authorities, the excesses of the first part of last week will neither be repeated nor attempted

THREATS

The feeling of opposition to the draft has not abated The rioters are sullen, they claim to be desperate, they intimate—some of them say to-day—that, when we have called riots are not to be compared with the horrors and destruction yet to come They say they are organized, that they have arms, and that at the proper time, the plans being perfected, they will show their power Among their allegations is this, that sooner than permit the draft to proceed, or finally to succeed, they will put to death every man to be taken to the army they will institute a general conflagration and that half the city will be destroyed

It is certain however, that while the disposition of some of the desperadoes would be equal to the fulfilment of these threats, the majority cannot enter into any such desperate schemes and it is more than probable that all the destruction that will be attempted, or performed will be the work of desperate hands of individuals.

It is not doubted that eventually there will be resistance Individuals will refuse to be taken and be shot, and some damage to persons and property will yet occur, but the character of the opposition hereafter will very much depend on the treatment which is given it by the authorities

THE DRAFT

The draft will go on Preparations are making No changes will be made in the manner of drawing for any of the regulations A movement is in progress, however, in which we hear Governor Seymour is joined by prominent citizens, to effect a reduction of the quota of troops called for from the city

It appears that the apportionment was made with the understanding that the city had not furnished the numbers heretofore called for, but that Governor Seymour has now the figures which will show a better state of facts So the questions will probably be decided before the drafting are resumed It will be arranged that no interruption shall hereafter be sufficient to stop the revolution of the wheel

As a specimen of the monstrous manner in which the secession press can lie, read the following General Dow never uttered a word of what is attributed to him—

General Neal Dow arrived at Richmond on the 11th, and was placed in Libbey Prison The Atlanta, Ga, Constitutionalist thus refers to his passage through that city

"Brigadier General Neal Dow of the Maine Law fame, recently captured in Mississippi, passed through the city last night, on his way to Richmond He expressed himself to one of our citizens, who traveled with him on the cars, as having entered the army to deliver the Union people of the South from the despotism of secession, but he was satisfied that there are few Union people at the South, and goes home (when he goes go) utterly opposed to a war of coercion He said he was aware of the outrages committed by Federal troops, but they were contrary to the wished and orders of the officers but the army being composed chiefly of the scum of the North—the refuse population of Europe and the United States—they would plunder and rob in spite of their officers

This letter from a gentleman of Bangor, now a delegate of the Christian Commission, gives some idea how delegates work Two hundred such were on that battle-field

MIDDLETOWN, Md., July 11, 1863

Charles Demond, Esq

My Dear Sir Though my epistolary conveniences are not of the first order, I will tell you something of my experiences at Gettysburg, where I happened to arrive in advance of the rest of the Commission

I came up with the Fifth Corps on the morning of the 2d As we advanced we saw nothing that told of battle, except now and then, at long intervals a dash of smoke from the heights held by Howard As we drew nearer, however, the hospitals told the story what has been and what was to come Our forces proceeded right up in line of battle, and speedily every hill was capped with smoke, the most terrific cannonading of right, on left and front—the whizzing and bursting of shells and the clatter of musketry Then came the wounded, they are lying under every tree, the woods seemed full of them, they issued from every path and were scattered in groups through the fields and along the road sides. They were wandering around searching for their respective hospitals It was a very small portion who could be accommodated in ambulances. Many of their hospitals I was able to point out to them after washing their wounds. Poor fellows! after reaching their hospitals many of them were little better off The houses and barns would hold but a handful. At one hospital I found hundreds lying on their backs in the open fields—the sun pouring down into their faces Their bleeding and neglected wounds was not so tormenting as this They entreated, with all their powers, as the last request of dying men, to give some plan devised to screen them from the sun Every one thought it useless for there were no spare tents at hand nor blankets enough to wrap upon them. In this exigency I hardly know which way to turn, but I soon found myself driving stakes with a rock and twisting every spare corner of their bedding over them. My business started others and soon had the comfort of seeing the whole hospital in the shade But toward evening we saw a shower coming up and here was a new labor We did the best we could, but few escaped the water that night. This is the way I spent my time in Gettysburg—going round the hospitals, reading to the sheet of the men their wants and trying to relieve them speaking words of comfort and religious consolation, and gathering their dying messages to their friends at home After all, my dear sir, our labors at such times are of such a nature that we can give but a faint idea of them on paper. There are a thousand little nameless acts which the world cannot know, or we ourselves recall, that are none the less important in their issues. The grateful soldier nuts them, one by one, and thanks God for the Christian Commission

I cannot close without telling you the pleasure it gave me, as I walked over the battle field among the dead, to find lying by their sides, and many already open, books of the Christian Commission distributed.

I am, sir, your ob't serv't,

JOHN G. CHAMBERLAIN.

Sidney Smith on good intentions.

"Good intentions! my dear sir, good intentions! believe me, my dear sir, a Bengal tiger, with his tail cut, is not half so dangerous as a gentleman with good intentions."

Should not the Government have Fair Credit.

The Providence Journal says—

We do not see that the anti administration papers which were so swift to condemn the President and his Cabinet when ever any of our army failed to succeed in its enterprises, or met with disheartening reverses, are at all swift to award to the administration any credit, now that the news of victories comes pouring in upon us from every side Surely it seems but a fair reckoning out of justice to give to the Government praise for victories if they are to be held responsible for defeats or defeat But the journals which have assailed them with the greatest bitterness and vituperation in the days of our misfortunes, instead of giving them any credit for our amazing success are only seeking for new grounds of complaint against them Nothing could be more unfair

There is confusion in a good many minds, we think, respecting the extent to which the Government is responsible for the success of our army and navy

We will not pause now to consider the arguments or the inconsistency of those who are constantly proclaiming that it is impossible to put down the rebellion by force of arms and yet have been finding fault with the government because it did not secure us more frequent successes in the field But what have good and loyal citizens, who believe that the rebellion can be crushed by military power and who are cheerfully doing what they can for the support of the government a right to expect and demand of those charged with the administration of affairs? They have a right to ask that the administration shall select the best leaders it can find for the forces, and furnish them with the requisite means for the prosecution of their work But admit that victory shall everywhere and under all circumstances be secured is simply unreasonable It would not be known beforehand what Generals would succeed It was necessary to try them, and to set aside such as failed to end in the least.

If the government does not use judgment in the selection of department commanders it is rightly responsible for the failures of those officers Again if it fails to render them all the support it can, it is blameworthy and must be responsible with whatever misfortune befalls the arm But if an officer of good repute proves to be unequal to the emergency he is called to account, are the government who confided in him to be blamed for his failure? Not unless they keep him in his position Or if a good officer declares that if he has all the men and means he needs, and then in battle fails in the administration to be blamed for not providing him in advance with more means? Manifestly no

The Post a few weeks ago charged that the government cared more about carrying the Connecticut election than it did about supporting Grant. If it had, it would assuredly have deserved rebuke, though the difference between Seymour of Hartford and Pemberton is not so great as it might be But who does not see that the government has furnished Grant with everything he needed or desired? The President keeps Grant in his place in the face of a storm of clamor for his removal Having done so much the President and his cabinet are fairly entitled to share in the glory of the capture of Vicksburg Again, it is plain enough that Meade was provided with all the reinforcements he needed If, therefore the blame rests upon any one for the escape of Lee it is not upon the government.

☞ The enrolment in the Fifth District (embracing Waldo, Hancock and Washington counties, and Lookland, Camden, Hope, Appleton, South Thomaston, Vinalhaven and North Haven, in Knox county) has been completed, and the rolls forwarded We learn from the Belfast Age that the whole number enrolled of the first class is about 11 000 The draft from the district will probably be about 2000, with fifty per cent additional to cover the exemptions

Bro Lemoine of the Bath Times, who is young handsome and full of patriotic blood, having recently taken to him a wife, awakens the suspicion that he would gladly escape the draft by copying the following from Deut. 24, 5 "When a man hath taken a new wife he shall not go to war, neither shall he be charged with any new business, but he shall be free at home one year, and cheer the wife which he hath taken

A HARD LOSS Among the fathers and mothers of the lead who receive the glad news of our victories with the heavy news that their sons have fallen in John Wilson, Esq, of this city Two of his sons young men of much promise, have fallen, one at Port Hudson a member of the 26th regiment, and the other at Gettysburg, who was a member of the 19 h regiment They were killed instantly Four sons of Mr Wilson have gone into the service, two have been killed, one yet remains in the service, and the other has been discharged on account of disability—Belfast Age

HOW TO TREAT AN IDLE HUSBAND — The people (the inhabitants of New Zealand) are much attached to their chiefs. If they require an additional patch of land, or liberty to build a house anywhere, it is granted If they quarrel among themselves, or have complaints to make, the head chief is at open to all—to the poorest man as well as to the petty chief If invasion threatens their district, he is in the front to repel it, and let the war cause a sharp skirmish or a great battle, he is always in the front, and when danger presses most, so that he has their love and respect The head chief often interferes in minor matters of a domestic nature—For instance, if a lazy fellow has a wife or two and a few children, and, through his love for fishing, dancing or loitering idly about, he neglects to bring in the necessary supplies for his family, a complaint is made. The chief visits the house in person, and if he sees grounds for punishment, he orders out the whole population of the village Men, women and children arm themselves with a stiff birch made of canes, and then form a double line, about six feet apart, and wait, with anxious glee, the approach of the delinquent At last he is placed at one end of the lines, amidst a shower of yells, screams jibes, etc. The word is given by the chief, and away he darts at the quickest speed According to his deserts, he may get off with running the line once, or may have to do so twice or thrice, but he is skilled in running and fleetness that can run the lines even once without having his skin tickled for him by the hearty application of the birch wielded by some strong woman As the punishment is not of a fatal kind, the whole affair creates more strricted marriages. For one month afterwards his family are provided by the public at large, under the fatherly superintendence of the chief At the expiration of that time, if he has all his domestic affairs in perfect order, as a good father and provident husband should have, he again resumes his place in society, and shortly afterwards helps, with an experienced hand, to flog idlers some one else.—Goulbon's South American

WAITS AND BLACK. A young lady reading the "Persons of Children" to another, came to the part where the prisoner's hair was changed gradually from dark to white, when she was interrupted with—"White! how odd to be sure Well, I know nothing about men's hair, but there is our old friend, Mrs. G———, the lady who has just been twenty-nine years old for the last fifteen years—her husband died, you know, last winter, at which misfortune her grief was so intense, that her hair turned completely black within twenty-four hours after the occurrence of the sad event."

A writer in the Knickerbocker says I entered a log school house once, where a debating society was holding forth upon the question "If a man saw his wife and mother in the water drowning, which should he help out first? The question was considered with animation on both sides for a while, when a "backwoodsman" began to manifest itself The President desired debaters, "if they had anything to say to continue on" After a pause, a peaked looking man in the house got up and said with considerable diffidence and embarrassment

Mr President, I think if a man saw his mother and wife in the water drowning, he ought to help his mother out first, because you see, if his wife did get drowned, he could get another one, but he could not get another mother—not easy'

This settled the question, and the verdict accordingly

HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY

BASES its real claims to the confidence of the public by its perfect simplicity, and freedom from every component which in any way places restraint on its use, Day or Night, by Old or Young, but to find the real secret of its true character and results, to which thousands can testify, by its being made the Pocket, Season or Nursery Companion of all, and the enemy to all Throat and Lung Complaints, by using it every hour, if necessary, or when there is the least tickling in the Throat, or disposition to Cough. By such freedom of use it

CURES

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchial Complaints, Hoarseness and all such, as when neglected, end in CONSUMPTION!

To Public Speakers and Singers it is most valuable, as it goes to the foundation, eases the Throat, and prevents the prostration which follows great exertion.

As a Soothing Syrup its simplicity calls for special attention, as the most delicate infant may take it with the greatest freedom.

HUNNEWELL'S VOLTAIC ANODYNE

This Preparation, by its splendid results, has shown the great necessity of a true Nervous and Spasmodic Remedy, which goes to its work on all such complaints, completely relieving the pains, and leaving no state of debility behind.

As most complaints of this nature proceed from inward causes, they are reached only through the stomach; and in most of them, time and money is wasted by the use of Liniments and Lotions.

Let this preparation be fairly tested, and it will be found worthy the name and fame of a true

ANODYNE!

IT CURES

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Tooth Ache, Ear Ache, Nervous Head Ache, Distress after eating, Fits, Histeria, Nervousness, Spinal Complaint, St. Vitus Dance, Cholera Morbus, Pains in Stomach and Bowels, also, the chief of all causes of disease and insanity

LOSS OF SLEEP!

☞ To the Sleepless Invalid it gives the most refreshing sleep.

To Females, suffering the pains of Monthly Menstruation, it completely relieves, while Nature's work is undisturbed. This is of great importance, as from this source dates most, if not all, wrecks to the Nervous System, and Chronic Female Complaints.

For Stomach, or Tape Worms, it is a sure remedy.

For children, when Teething, it completely soothes the pain, by diluting with milk and rubbing the Gums. When very severe give it in 5 to 10 drop doses in milk, and is a perfect relief.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS

This Valuable and Simple PILL rests for character on being the true type of a CATHARTIC,—simple, though thorough in action, seldom requiring but a SINGLE PILL for a dose, or one at night and one at morning—acts without the least griping.

AND CURES
